

Birth control pills are used in preparation for an IVF cycle in order to suppress your ovaries temporarily. This will suppress your estrogen and progesterone production, and reduces the chances of having ovarian cysts. We want your estrogen and progesterone levels to be low so that we can use the medications to stimulate your ovaries and uterus.