

Day one is considered the actual day that you are full flow on your cycle. Spotting does not count as day one. Many women spot before they begin full flow. As long as we see you early in your cycle, even up to day 4, we can still begin treatment.