

Oral progesterone is used on some occasions as an additional form of supplementation, but it not very effective on its own. Our preferred forms of supplementation for IVF are intramuscular injection or vaginal supplementation (Endometrin or Crinone). Carolina Conceptions pregnancy rates are most reflective of patients that have used injectable progesterone.