

If you are testing at home, we would have you call and make an appointment to have a blood pregnancy test done in our office. After your first positive pregnancy test in the office, we will have you come back in 2 days to have us draw another HCG level. The HCG level should double every 48 hours. If your second test falls on a weekend we would have to come in on Monday morning to have your blood drawn. After two normally rising HCG levels we will have you make an appointment for your first OB ultrasound 2 weeks after your second blood test. At that time you are normally between 6-7 weeks and we should be able to see a gestational sac in the uterus and a fetal heartbeat.
